Evans complied with the demands and removed his wallet and keys from his pockets. As the suspect approached him, Evans pulled his arms up in front of his face in a defensive position. Supin saw the suspect grab Evans with his left arm while he pistol whipped Evans with the gun in his right hand. Supin ran to Evans' residence to get help and then she heard a gunshot. Evans was discovered on the ground, unconscious, suffering from a gunshot wound. Evans was transported to UMC trauma where he died of his injury.

They approached a subject who was walking down the street at Desert Inn/Buffalo and Tarossa attempted to rob him. Gonzalez yelled at Tarossa, encouraging him to shoot at the subject. He also admitted to exiting the vehicle during Dominique Evans' robbery because he thought Evans may try to resist and he was going to assist Tarossa in the commission of the robbery. He stated after Tarossa shot Evans, they left the scene and switched vehicles so they could use Evans' credit cards to purchase food. Gonzalez drove the second vehicle to the McDonald's. Gonzalez admitted to being a Valley Park Criminal Gangsters gang member.

Matthew Laneave was advised of his Miranda Rights per the Miranda Decision and signed an LVMPD Rights of Persons Arrested card, agreeing to speak to detectives. Laneave stated the following: He admitted he drove Gonzalez's vehicle during both robberies. During the first robbery, he pulled to the side of the road near the intersection of Desert Inn/ Buffalo, where Tarossa exited the vehicle and attempted to rob a man at gun point. Tarossa wore a blue bandana covering his face and pulled the hoodie up over his head. When the subject began to run, Tarossa fired a weapon at the fleeing subject. Laneave then pursued the man, chasing him with the vehicle through the parking lot of the CVS, where Tarossa again fired the weapon at the subject, who was still running away. Unable to catch the victim, Laneave drove westbound on Desert Inn. He drove onto Edenville where they encountered Evans and his girlfriend. Laneave stopped the car and Tarossa exited the vehicle and robbed Evans of his wallet. He saw Evans' girlfriend run in front of the vehicle as she was trying to get away. He saw Tarossa hit Evans in the head with the gun, causing him to fall to the ground. He heard a gunshot and Tarossa returned to the vehicle. Laneave drove out of the area to another location, where the group switched vehicles, attempting to avoid capture. Gonzalez drove the group to the McDonald's drive through at Flamingo/Buffalo in an attempt to use Evans' credit cards to purchase food and get cash back. When the credit cards were denied, the group left and later separated. Laneave admitted to being a Valley Park Criminal Gangsters gang member.

Antonio Tarrosa was advised of his Miranda Rights per the Miranda Decision and signed an LVMPD Rights of Persons Arrested card, agreeing to speak to detectives. Tarrosa related the following: He was the passenger sitting in the front passenger seat of Gonzalez's vehicle, where Laneave was the driver on two robberies. Tarrosa admitted that during the first robbery, Laneave stopped near the intersection of Desert Inn/Buffalo to rob a subject walking down the street. Tarossa exited the car and attempted to rob the subject of his possessions, when the subject fled. Tarossa explained to detectives that anytime a victim flees, it is as though he is breaking the rules and must be shot. Tarossa then fired his weapon at the fleeing subject. Laneave chased after the subject. They caught up to the subject in the CVS parking lot and Tarossa began shooting at him again. Tarossa was unsure if he hit the subject or not. Tarossa stated he covered his face with a blue bandana and wore the hood of the sweatshirt over his head in an attempt to conceal his identity.

Failing to succeed in this robbery, the group then drove to a nearby neighborhood where they encountered Evans and a female. When Laneave stopped the vehicle near the couple, he jumped out and robbed Evans of a brown Luis Vuitton wallet. He also covered his face with a bandana and wore the hood of the sweatshirt over his head in an attempt to conceal his identity. During the robbery he struck Evans on the back of the head with the pistol, knocking him to the ground. Laneave yelled at the victim not to run, or Tarossa would shoot him. Evans complied to all of Tarossa's demands during the robbery, but the female who was with Evans ran from the scene. Tarossa stated this was unacceptable. Not wanting to shoot a woman, Tarossa returned to where Evans was laying face down and shot him. Tarossa wasn't sure at first if he actually struck Evans, but after hearing Evans cry out in pain, he knew that Evans had been struck. Tarossa and the group left the area. They switched vehicles so as to avoid detection by police. The group went to a McDonald's drive thru at Flamingo/Buffalo where Tarossa tried to use two or three of the credit cards from Evans' wallet to purchase food for the group. When the cards were denied, the group left the area and later separated. The following day, Gonzalez contacted him and told him that their robbery victim had died from the gunshot wound. He discarded the clothing he was wearing that night in several different garbage cans. Tarossa attempted to locate the gun used in the robbery/murder in an attempt to dispose of it but could not find the gun. Tarossa admitted to being a Valley Park Criminal Gangsters gang member.

Gonzalez and Laneave were handcuffed, searched and transported to the Clark County Detention Center where they were booked.
